The website of the Company: <http://www.ppfeurope.com/>

Data Privacy Responsible on the Company’s side and his / her contact details: dataprivacy@ppfeurope.com

2. UPDATES AND AVAILABILITY

The Company reserves the right to modify this Notice unilaterally with effect subsequent to such modification, subject to the limitations provided for in the laws and with advance notification to the individuals in due time, if necessary. The Company may modify this Notice especially when it is required upon changes in the laws, the practice of the data protection authority, business needs or employees’ needs, any new activity involving personal data processing or any newly revealed security exposures or if it is necessary because of individuals’ feedback. When communicating in relation to this Notice or privacy issues or otherwise keeping in contact with individuals, the Company may use the contact details of individuals available to the Company in order to get or keep in contact with individuals. Upon request, the Company will for example send a copy of the latest updated version of this Notice to individuals or certify that the individuals have read the Notice.

3. SPECIFIC DATA PROTECTION TERMS

In certain cases, specific privacy-related terms and conditions may also be applicable of which the individuals who are affected by them will be duly notified. Such specific terms and conditions are provided for in connection with the operation of electronic surveillance systems (i.e. cameras), the entry-control systems operated in the offices of the Company and cookies that are used on the website of the Company.

In each case, individuals are obliged to make the relevant personal data available to the Company in accordance with the applicable laws. Individuals shall especially be in possession of adequate and informed consent or other legal basis for making personal data available for the Company (for example if the data of contact persons and family members are given). If the Company becomes aware that any personal data of a data subject was disclosed without his/her consent or any other appropriate legal basis, then the Company may immediately delete such personal data and the data subject is also entitled to exercise the rights and remedies set forth in this Notice. The Company will not be liable for any loss or harm which may arise from any breach of the above undertaking and representation of any individual.

4. SCOPE OF THE DATA AND THE PURPOSE OF THEIR PROCESSING

The table below describes the scope of the processed personal data, the purposes, the legal basis, the duration of the processing and the scope of the persons authorised to have access to the data. Where a purpose of processing is required for pursuing a legitimate interest of the Company or any third party, then the Company will make the balancing test of the underlying interests available upon a request submitted to one of the contact details of the Company above.

The Company expressly wishes to draw the attention of the individuals to their right of objection to the processing of their personal data due to a cause related to their own situation at any time where the processing is based on legitimate interest, including the case where the processing takes the form of profiling. In such a case, the Company ceases processing the personal data unless it can prove that the processing has to be continued due to compelling legitimate reasons which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the individuals or which relate to the submission, the enforcement or the protection of legal claims. If personal data is processed for the purpose of direct marketing, individuals may at any time object to the processing of their personal data for that purpose, including profiling, if connected to direct marketing.

Where this Notice indicates the relevant limitation period for the enforcement of claims as the duration of data processing, then any event which interrupts the limitation period shall extend the term of the data processing until the new date when the underlying claim may lapse (Section 6:25 (2) of Act V of 2013 on the Civil Code – the “Civil Code”). If the limitation period is interrupted, the claim can be enforced within one year from the time when the reason for interruption ceases to exist or, in respect of a limitation period of one year or less, within three months, even if the limitation period has already lapsed or there is less than one year or less than three months, respectively, remaining from it (Section 6:24 (2) of the Civil Code).

The 8 years’ retention period specified in Act C of 2000 on accounting (the “Accounting Act”) shall be counted from the day of a given year when the accounting item related to the data or the accounts/accounting relied on the relevant data in any way. In practice if the data appears in an agreement under which more completions arise (e.g. advice is provided several times during the term of the agreement), the 8 years’ period shall be counted from each completion separately, because there is a separate invoice for each completion, based on which the transaction is entered into the accounts. If the data appears in an agreement which for example provides for the sale and purchase of a single thing (handover takes place and upon completion the agreement terminates), then the transaction is entered into the books under the agreement based on the invoice in the given year and the 8 years start from then.

Purpose of the processing	Legal basis of the processing	Scope of processed data	Data retention period, access rights, data transfers
Allowing participation in promotions and advertising campaigns (including prize games organised by the Company) – in accordance with the applicable terms and conditions of participation	Article 6 (1) (a) of the GDPR – voluntary consent of the individual given in the course of his/her participation in the promotion or advertising campaign in accordance with the applicable terms and conditions of participation. The individual may withdraw his/her consent at any time. The withdrawal of consent shall not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal. Without the consent, the individual cannot participate in the given promotion, advertising campaign or prize game.	The scope of participating persons and the personal data are determined on a case-by-case basis, in accordance with the applicable terms and conditions of participation (e.g. name, address and the chosen gift, vote cast in a public voting game open for the public etc.).	The duration of processing is determined on a case-by-case basis, in accordance with the applicable terms and conditions of participation taking into account the closing date of the promotion or advertising campaign and the time required for the delivery of the prizes, where applicable. Authorised persons having access to the data within the Company: determined on a case-by-case basis, in accordance with the applicable terms and conditions of participation, failing which the persons having tasks in relation to the promotion or advertising campaign are authorised to have access to the data.
Sending advertisements and newsletters by email	Article 6 (1) (a) of the GDPR – voluntary consent of the individual and Section 6 (1) of Act XLVIII of 2008 on the Basic Requirements and Certain Restrictions of Commercial Advertising Activities – prior, clear and express consent of the individual. Consents may be withdrawn at any time, without limitation and reasoning, free of charge. The withdrawal of consent shall not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal. Without consent, the Company is not permitted to send out advertisements and newsletters by email.	Name and email address of possible recipients.	If an individual withdraws consent, then personal data has to be deleted. Authorised persons having access to the data within the Company: persons sending out advertisements and newsletters.

Making records of and recordings at Company events The invitation to the event or information letters placed at the event may give further information about the method of usage of photos and recordings.	Article 6 (1) (a) of the GDPR (voluntary consent of the individual). The individual may withdraw his/her consent at any time. The withdrawal of consent shall not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal. Without the individual's consent, no photos can be taken and recordings can be made. No consent is needed for taking photos or making recordings and using them where the recordings are made at activities of the individual which qualify as acting in the public or where a mass of persons is depicted (Section 2:48 of the Civil Code). In this case the legal basis for making and using recordings is Article 6 (1) (f) of the GDPR (data processing is needed for the legitimate interests pursued by the Company). Legitimate interest: It is the Company's business interest to take photos or make and use recordings to strengthen the image of the Company in business and make the Company better known, give incentive to employees and enhance atmosphere at work.	Taking photos or making videos at events organised by the Company (images of individuals). With the consent of the individuals or subject to the legitimate interest of the Company (where photos are taken or recordings are made at activities of an individual which qualify as acting in the public or where a mass of persons is depicted), the photos or videos may be published in the intranet as well as on external online sites of the Company (e.g. the website, LinkedIn or other social network site of the Company) or on other online or offline media likewise (e.g. online or printed corporate marketing materials).	Photos and recordings may be deleted at any time when the individual so requests. In the case of photos and recordings which have been made public, however, the right of withdrawal can only be exercised fully until the time when such materials appear publicly. For instance, where photos have appeared publicly, third parties might copy and/or save them, which is outside the control of the Company. In respect of printed materials, the Company is not able to withdraw printed copies that have been placed on the market and are no longer within the control of the Company if consent is withdrawn. Individuals give consent in the knowledge and in acknowledgement of the above restrictions. The Company processes photos and recordings based on its legitimate interest until the relevant individual exercises his/her right of objection. Authorised persons having access to the data within the Company: until photos or recordings have not appeared publicly, such recordings are handled by the HR and Marketing Department. Photos and recordings which have been made public on the intranet of the Company, can be seen by all members of the Company's personnel. The materials appearing on the LinkedIn site of the Company and on any online or other media are public.

5. DATA PROCESSORS

The Company engages the following contractual partners for carrying out tasks related to data processing operations in addition to the ones listed above. Such contracting parties act as so-called “data processors” i.e. they process the personal data defined in this Notice on behalf of the Company.

The Company should only use data processors providing sufficient safeguards, in particular in terms of expertise, reliability and resources, for the implementation of technical and organisational measures which ensure that the requirements of the GDPR are met, including the security of processing. The particular tasks and liabilities of the data processor are provided for in the data processing agreement made between the Company and the data processor. After the completion of the processing on behalf of the Company, the processor shall, at the choice of the Company, return or delete the personal data, unless there is a requirement to store the personal data under Union or Member State law to which the processor is subject.

6. TECHNICAL AND ORGANISATIONAL DATA SECURITY MEASURES

The Company protects the personal data it processes primarily by restricting the access to the information and by clearly specifying users' rights. Only the persons who needs to have access in order to fulfil the above-mentioned purposes and/or are authorised to have access are entitled to access the systems and instruments used for processing the personal data referred to in this Notice. These persons include e.g. designated team members or departments (e.g. in respect of user data that are required for the use of the Company's IT systems, the IT Department).

The Company ensures the safe and legitimate use of the devices which it makes available (including Company-owned computers, notebooks and mobile phones), the e-mail accounts and the Internet and the desirable level of awareness of the employees related to such use by applying the following measures:

- The Company expects that the devices which it made available and which have access to the Internet as well as the e-mail accounts are used by the employees with specific user names and passwords which are adequately complex and up-dated at regular intervals.
- The Company protects all its systems and devices by fire wall, antivirus software and spam filters. In addition, the Company operates an intrusion protection system (so-called IPS) which enables the detection, blocking and logging of illegitimate attempts of intrusion into the computer systems of the Company.

- The Company makes safe wired and wireless network access available for all company devices provided by the Company.
- Remote access to the systems and software of the Company from any device is possible only through safe connection (VPN) by using specific user names and passwords, with mitigation of chances of accidental access (including illegitimate access by the use of stolen or lost devices).
- The IT Department of the Company carries out regular software and system up-dates and back-up saves of data in accordance with its own internal regulations.

As regards the physical protection of data and electronic documents, the Company owns locked server rooms and procures that access to a particular document is reserved to adequately authorised persons only (e.g. access to HR documents is reserved to the HR Department, access to payroll data is reserved to the Financial Department and the data processor engaged for payroll accounting).

7. DATA PROTECTION RIGHTS AND REMEDIES

7.1 Data protection rights and remedies

The detailed rights and remedies of the individuals are set forth in the applicable provisions of the GDPR (especially in Articles 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 77, 78, 79, 80, and 82 of the GDPR). The summary set out below describes the most important provisions and the Company provides information for the individuals in accordance with the above articles about their rights and remedies related to the processing of personal data.

The information shall be provided in writing, or by other means, including, where appropriate, by electronic means. When requested by the individual, information may also be provided orally, provided that the identity of the individual is verified by other means.

The Company will respond without unreasonable delay, but by no means later than within one month of receipt to the request of an individual in which such person exercises his/her rights about the measures taken upon such request (see Articles 15-22 of the GDPR). This period may be, if needed, extended for further two months in the light of the complexity of the request and the number of requests to be processed. The Company notifies the individual about the extension also indicating its grounds within one month of the receipt of the request. Where the request has been submitted by electronic means, the response should likewise be sent electronically, unless the individual otherwise requests.

If the Company does not take any measure upon the request, it shall so notify the individual without delay, but by no means later than in one month, stating why no measures are taken and about the opportunity of the individual to lodge a complaint with the data protection authority and to file an action with the courts for remedy.

7.2 The individual's right of access

- (1) The individual has the right to obtain confirmation from the Company whether or not personal data concerning him/her are being processed. Where the case is such, then he/she is entitled to have access to the personal data concerned and to the following information:
 - a) the purposes of the processing;
 - b) the categories of personal data concerned;
 - c) the recipients or categories of recipient to whom the personal data have been or will be disclosed including especially recipients in third countries and/or international organisations;
 - d) where possible, the envisaged period for which the personal data will be stored, or, if not possible, the criteria used to determine that period;

- e) the right of the individual to request from the Company rectification or erasure of personal data or restriction of processing of personal data concerning the individual or to object to such processing;
 - f) the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority;
 - g) where the personal data are not collected from the individual, any available information as to their source.
- (2) Where personal data are forwarded to a third country, the individual is entitled to obtain information concerning the adequate safeguards of the data transfer.
- (3) The Company provides a copy of the personal data undergoing processing to the individual. The Company may charge a reasonable fee based on administrative costs for requested further copies. Where the individual submitted his/her request by electronic means, the information will be provided to him/her in a commonly used electronic form unless otherwise requested by the data subject.

7.3 Right to rectification

The individual has the right to request that the Company rectify inaccurate personal data which concern him/her without undue delay. In addition, the individual is also entitled to have incomplete personal data completed e.g. by a supplementary statement or otherwise.

7.4 Right to erasure ('right to be forgotten')

- (1) The individual has the right that when he/she so requests, the Company erase the personal data concerning him/her without delay where one of the following grounds applies:
- (a) the personal data are no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which they were collected or otherwise processed by the Company;
 - (b) the individual withdraws consent on which the processing is based, and there are no other legal grounds for the processing;
 - (c) the individual objects to the processing and there are no overriding legitimate grounds for the processing;
 - (d) the personal data have been unlawfully processed;
 - (e) the personal data have to be erased for compliance with a legal obligation in Union or Member State law to which the Company is subject;
 - (f) the collection of the personal data occurred in connection with offering services regarding the information society.
- (2) If the Company has made the personal data public and then it becomes obliged to delete it as aforesaid, then it will, taking into account the available technology and the costs of implementation, take reasonable steps including technical steps in order to inform processors who carry out processing that the individual has initiated that the links leading to the personal data concerned or the copies or reproductions of these be deleted.
- (3) Paragraphs (1) and (2) shall not apply to the extent that processing is necessary, among other things, for:
- a) exercising the right of freedom of expression and information;
 - b) compliance with a legal obligation which requires processing by Union or Member State law to which the Company is subject;
 - c) archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes in so far as the right referred to in paragraph (1) is likely to render impossible or seriously impair the achievement of the objectives of that processing; or
 - d) the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

7.5 Right to restriction of processing

- (1) The individual has the right to obtain a restriction of processing from the Company where one of the following applies:
 - a) the accuracy of the data is contested by the individual, for a period enabling the Company to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
 - b) the processing is unlawful and the individual opposes the erasure of the personal data and requests the restriction of their use instead;
 - c) the Company no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of the processing, but the individual requires them for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims;
 - d) the individual has objected to processing pending the verification whether the legitimate grounds of the Company override those of the individual.
- (2) Where processing has been restricted under paragraph (1), such personal data shall, with the exception of storage, only be processed with consent of the individual or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person or for reasons of important public interest of the Union or of a Member State.
- (3) The Company informs the individual whose request has served as grounds for the restriction based on the aforesaid, before the restriction of processing is lifted.

7.6 Notification obligation regarding rectification or erasure of personal data or restriction of processing

The Company will communicate any rectification or erasure of personal data or restriction of processing to each recipient to whom the personal data have been disclosed, unless this proves impossible or involves disproportionate effort. The Company informs the individual about those recipients if he/she so requests.

7.7 Right to data portability

- (1) The individual has the right to receive the personal data concerning him/her, which he/she has provided to the Company in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to transmit those data to another controller without hindrance from the Company, where:
 - a) the processing is based on consent or on a contract; and
 - b) the processing is carried out by automated means.
- (2) In exercising the right to data portability pursuant to paragraph (1), the individual shall have the right to have the personal data transmitted directly from one controller to another (thus from the Company to another controller), where technically feasible.
- (3) Exercising the aforesaid right shall be without prejudice to provisions concerning the right to erasure ('right to be forgotten') and, further, this right shall not adversely affect the rights and freedoms of others.

7.8 Right to object

- (1) The individual has the right to object, on grounds relating to his/her particular situation, at any time to processing of personal data concerning him/her for the purposes of legitimate interests. In this case the Company will no longer process the personal data unless it demonstrates compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the individual or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

- (2) Where the processing of personal data serves direct marketing purposes the individual is entitled to object to the processing of personal data regarding him/her for such purposes, including profiling, in so far as the latter relates to direct marketing.
- (3) If the individual objects to the processing of personal data with the aim of direct marketing, then the personal data can no longer be processed for this purpose.
- (4) In connection with the use of services related to information society, the individual may resort to his/her right of objection, with deviation from Directive No 2002/58/EC, by means of automated devices based on technical requirements.
- (5) Where personal data are processed for scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes, the individual, on grounds relating to his/her particular situation, has the right to object to processing of personal data concerning him/her, unless the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out for reasons of public interest.

7.9 Right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority

The individual has the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, in particular in the Member State of his/her habitual residence, place of work or place of the alleged infringement if he/she considers that the processing of personal data relating to him/her infringes the GDPR. In Hungary, the competent supervisory authority is the Hungarian Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information (<http://naih.hu/>; 1530 Budapest, Pf.: 5; telephone: +36-1-391-1400; fax: +36-1-391-1410; e-mail: ugyfelszolgalat@naih.hu)

7.10 Right to an effective judicial remedy against a supervisory authority

- (1) The individual has the right to an effective judicial remedy against a legally binding decision of a supervisory authority concerning him/her.
- (2) The individual has the right to an effective judicial remedy where the supervisory authority which is competent does not handle a complaint or does not inform him/her within three months on the progress or outcome of the complaint lodged.
- (3) Proceedings against a supervisory authority shall be brought before the courts of the Member State where the supervisory authority is established.

7.11 Right to an effective judicial remedy against the Company or the processor

- (1) Without prejudice to any available administrative or non-judicial remedy, including the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, any individual has the right to an effective judicial remedy where he/she considers that his/her rights under the GDPR have been infringed as a result of the processing of his/her personal data in non-compliance with the GDPR.
- (2) Proceedings against the Company or a processor shall be brought before the courts of the Member State where the Company or processor has an establishment. Alternatively, such proceedings may be brought before the courts of the Member State where the individual has habitual residence. In Hungary, the general court has jurisdiction in these kinds of proceedings. The proceedings can be brought - according to the choice of the individual concerned - before the general court where one has its habitual residence or place of stay. Information on the competent courts and their contact details is available at www.birosag.hu.
